NO. 283—SEVENTY-THIRD YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1931 TWENTY PAGES

Better Times in Canada Starts States Minister

Hon. H. H. Stevens Cites Strong Position of Dominion, Which Justifies Optimism—New Industries Opening—Values Strengthening—Trade Balance Favorable

BRANTFORD, Nov. 6.—Canada can lead the world into the era of expansion and prosperity which awaits it if Canadians will realize their duties and face them with confidence and optimism, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, told a gathering of businessmen here today.

Endowed with tremendous resources, favorably situated among other nations, Canadians have every reason for believing that an upturn has been reached in their own and world conditions, he said. But they must realize that they share part of the responsibilities of a democratic institution resting upon their own, and not the Government's shoulders, and keep to the middle course, which will mean maintenance of the freedom they have now.

THRESHOLD OF PROSPERITY

With rising commodity prices, more favorable trade balance than have obtained for years, Canada stands on the threshold of "another Victorian era, another era of expansion such as the world has never known, an era in which two-thirds of humanity will learn to know and want the advantages which it has never felt before," he declared. And Canada, he added, is in the position of being in the vanguard of the nations which will benefit most, not tagging behind weakly.

Stressing the strong position of Canada and urging confidence and optimism which will provide the basis upon which Canada will surely and steadily advance, the minister also charged Canadian industry to realize its ability to aid the nation. Upon its administration, he pointed out, Canadian trade balances could be adjusted to give the Dominion more and more a commanding position in the markets of the world. Markets could be opened by Canadian purchases; freedom from dependence upon other traders could be attained.

FACTORIES START

Particularly definite indications of improvement in the business world were the Firestone Company resuming work at full capacity, the International Harvester Company recalling 300 employees, a Quebec silk plant reopening on full time, a new silk company locating in Hamilton to take on 100 employees, and a new firm to start the manufacture of electric refrigerators in Canada.

He quoted wheat prices at Winnipeg and predicted even higher values.

GUN EXPLOSION TOLL NOW FIVE

Twenty-Two Injured on U.S.S. Colorado—Timing Fuse Blamed for Blast

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Nov. 6 (AP).—Official findings of the court investigating the explosion of an anti-aircraft gun aboard the U.S.S. Colorado, which resulted in today for transmission to headquarters in Washington. Unofficial navy sources, however, advanced the opinion that the timing fuse had functioned.

Normal fuses are timed to explode the shrapnel high in the air. This gun, No. 8 on the ship, which was forty-five miles at sea, was trained on a huge canvas target towed by a seaplane from the San Diego aviation base. Statements made unofficially by members of the crew on duty at the gun also blame the fuse.

TWENTY-TWO INJURED

Twenty-two men were injured by the blast, and the hope was held tonight for the recovery of two of them, Eames R. O. Duff and H. J. Hinton, whose skulls were fractured.

Two other deaths resulted from accidents aboard navy ships, bringing the total to seven. Lieutenant Commander O. W. Erickson, veteran pilot, was killed when his airplane plunged from the deck of the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Saratoga. Chief Petty Officer U. P. Plummer died of a crushed back and chest received when a confused sailor lowered a gun upon him in the gun pit.

TELL OF BRAVERY

The bravery of wounded men aboard the Colorado, who ignored their pain to give aid to the more seriously injured, was recounted today. Ensign George F. Kowko, while a piece of metal driven into his thigh, saw his comrades were cared for before he sought treatment. Seamen Claude A. Coulter, Chauncey Stover and Herbert E. Lutz, Appleton, Wis., won praise for disregarding their own pain and helping to obtain quick treatment for others.

NEW STATION WILL BROADCAST FOR ALL EMPIRE TO LISTEN

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP).—British Broadcasting Company announced tonight that it will proceed immediately with plans for erection of a short-wave broadcasting station to which the whole of the British Empire can listen. The project has been under discussion for some time.

COMMUNIST NO ADVOCATE OF VIOLENCE

So Say Alleged Party Leaders When on Trial in Toronto Court

DOCUMENT ADVISES THROWING PRACTICE

TORONTO, Nov. 6 (CP).—Communist party in Canada has never advocated the use of force and violence in overthrowing the capitalist system; nor had it ever preached the overthrow of the existing government by force. This was the testimony of Tom Buck and Tom Ewen, alleged leaders of the party, in giving evidence in their own behalf here today.

Buck and Ewen, with seven others, are on trial for being and acting as members of an unlawful association, and with being parties to a seditious conspiracy. The trial adjourned this evening, to resume Monday morning. All the accused were allowed freedom on bail of $15,000 each.

MOSCOW DOCUMENT

The testimony of Buck and Ewen followed the closing of the Crown's case this morning. In its final moments the Crown had introduced a document purporting to have been written by "Wallisley" at Moscow, extracts from which were read to the court.

One extract dealt with the formation of "proletarian self defence" and suggested Communists should practise throwing stones at a target so that when disorders occurred their aim should be effective.

This document, however, was repudiated by Buck this afternoon. Continued on Page 18, Column 8

TRAIN MILEAGE MUCH REDUCED

C.P.R. Vice-President Announces Curtailment Involving Eastern Lines

MONTREAL, Nov. 6 (CP).—Large reductions in passenger train mileage, combined with improved facilities for the traveling public between Eastern and Western Canada, were announced here today by Grant Hall, vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway.

The reduction in passenger-train mileage, Mr. Hall said, was a direct result of the necessity for economy, and was a further extension of the policies followed in the past two years. The changes will be in effect from November 22, and the actual reduction in passenger-train mileage will reach the huge total of 2,172,228 miles, which would mean a per annum reduction and saving of 3,000,888 passenger-train miles, Mr. Hall continued.

His earliest recollection of life was one of horror, for it was the massacre of his father and sister by Indians on Satawa Island in 1863. The father, Frederick Marks, and his married daughter, Caroline Harvey, were proceeding from Walcott Island in a small boat, while Mrs. Marks, with the other members of the party, including Lewis, then aged three, were on board a schooner. The craft separated and Mrs. Marks and his daughter landed on Satawa, where they were murdered by Indians from Kuper Island. Warships were sent to Kuper Island and bombarded the village and captured a number of the tribe said to have been implicated in the murder.

NEGOTIATIONS are under way for active operation of the grain elevator at Ogden Point. A. J. Gibson, of Regina, who was associated intimately with J. A. Mooney, in the organization of the Panama-Pacific Elevator Company, was in the city yesterday in connection with a lease.

MAY BE RELEASED AFTER CONVICTION

Death of Magistrate Shaw Before Giving Sentence Creates Unprecedented Situation

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—The recent death of Police Magistrate H. C. Shaw has brought about an unprecedented situation which may result in several offenders against the law being freed. They were convicted before the late magistrate and were awaiting sentence when he died.

Authorities have found no rule in law which would provide for new trials of the accused or the imposition of sentences by another magistrate.

A number of persons who were convicted before Magistrate Shaw and not sentenced have been released since his death as they had been held in jail for periods equivalent to the sentences. Magistrate Shaw was taken ill a few days later, and never appeared in court again.

FIVE ARE HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Serious Injuries Sustained by Two in Vancouver Street Traffic

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—Five people were hurt, two of them seriously, in traffic accidents on city streets tonight. All were taken to the General Hospital.

Those injured were: Mrs. Jack Murray, West Georgia Street; Miss Sheila Ryan, East Forty-Ninth Avenue; Edgar Renwick, East Twelfth, and Harry Bushby, East Seventh, all of whom sustained head injuries in an automobile collision at Main and Georgia Streets, and George Porcher, East Fifty-Fourth Avenue, who suffered a broken leg when he was run over by a car at Thirty-Ninth and Fraser.

The first four were riding in a light coupe north on Main Street, and in turning to go west on Georgia were struck by another car. The condition of Mrs. Murray and Miss Ryan was reported by hospital authorities to be serious, as both were suffering possible fractured skulls, shock, lacerations and other undetermined injuries.

Porcher, whose injuries are not considered serious, had stepped off the curb to cross Fraser Street at Thirty-Ninth, when he was hit by a car.

Stores to Close On Remembrance Day, It Is Ruled

A TORONTO, Nov. 6 (CP).—Remembrance Day, which is observed in Canada as a public holiday, and all Dominion offices, banks, etc., will be closed. By Provincial proclamation, in addition, it has been provided that everything will close. This applies to stores and other places of business. Mr. Pooley stated. Concurrently, it was said that all schools would close, and all Provincial offices, as in the observance of Labor Day or any analogous holiday. The Legislative Buildings will remain closed all day, except for the purpose of memorial ceremonies in the big rotunda.

ASK ADVANCE OF MILLION

Financial Arrangements Effected With Federal Government, Cabinet Told

Definite word was received by members of the Provincial Government yesterday from Hon. J. W. Jones, now on his way back to the city from Ottawa, where he conferred with the Federal unemployment committee. Mr. Jones advised his colleagues that he would be in Victoria on Tuesday, and would then explain financial arrangements made with the Dominion Government. Hon. R. W. Bruhn is remaining at the national capital, to see Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett on British Columbia unemployment matters.

While no Government comment was offered, it is known that Mr. Jones, in his capacity of Minister of Finance, went to Ottawa partly on financial affairs as well as to see Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett on British Columbia unemployment matters.

Meanwhile the Provincial Government, through its unemployment committee, has ordered cessation of all provincial relief undertakings, and is moving for the present to maintain men in the camps already constructed. Whether or not this plan will result in a policy of direct relief instead of provision of new works, which would be a reversal of

NATURAL GAS OUTPUT

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP).—Canada's output of natural gas was 1,557,723 thousand cubic feet in September, as compared with 1,299,159 thousand cubic feet in August and 1,711,029 thousand cubic feet in September, 1930, according to a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Refused to Accept Assistance on Other Basis, Explains Hon. Robert Weir—No Cash Donations Are Being Given

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP).—Many farmers in the drought-stricken areas of Southern Saskatchewan refused to accept assistance from the Dominion Government except on a loan basis. The Government is, therefore, getting notes from all the people who receive assistance in the seventy-one municipalities affected.

PLAN WAS PREFERABLE

Many farmers in the stricken areas own their farms without encumbrance. They had first wanted to have the Government assist them in the purchase of land, as it was impossible to obtain mortgages. The Government decided against this, however, and it was decided notes would be preferable to mortgages.

Although it is too early to estimate with any degree of accuracy the extent of assistance that will be required in the drought districts, it will likely run over $5,000,000.

At present the three men supervising the relief work, John Strain, Clive Burke and Thomas Graham, all expert farmers, are studying the whole situation, and among other things are to decide the amount and kind of seed for next season.

INCREASE BIG IN MILLS' BUSINESS

SEATTLE, Nov. 6 (AP).—New business taken by 224 mills reporting to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the week ending October 31 showed an increase of 21 per cent, or 15,900,000 board feet, over the total for the previous week, the association said today.

The increase was the largest percentage gain from one week to another in recent months. Each market classification, the rail trade, domestic cargo and export, shared in the gain.

Operations for a total of 344 mills for the same week were at 30.2 per cent of capacity, compared to 31.9 per cent for the preceding week and 44.8 per cent for the same week last year.

HER PRESENT INTENTION

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 6 (AP).—A "cease firing" omen in Manchuria came today as Ambassador Deuchel of Japan said it was the "present intention" of his country to withdraw her troops southward. Both the diplomatic and United States department officials minimized the danger of Russia becoming involved in the Sino-Japanese fighting.

Calling at the State Department to present his country's explanation of the latest outbreak, Ambassador Deuchel told newspapermen Japan planned to begin the troop movement south as soon as bridges around which the fighting has occurred have been repaired—a week or ten days.

Geneva Delegation Should Comprise Country's Ablest

Agnes Macphail, M.P., Before Women's Canadian Club and League of Nations Society Here, Stresses Significance of Disarmament

CANADA should revise her policy of changing her delegates to Geneva nearly every year, and try to establish, as most of the other nations have done, some thread of continuity. Delegates would also give much more effective service if they were notified of their appointment some time in advance so that they could study and discuss with some intelligence the subjects which come before the committees on which they are serving.

Miss Agnes Macphail, Canada's only woman member of Parliament at Ottawa, emphasized this point at both the big meetings which she addressed yesterday. In the afternoon she spoke to a capacity audience of Women's Canadian Club members at the Empress Hotel, with Mrs. W. G. Wilson in the chair; and in the evening a second address was heard here at the City Temple, under the auspices of the League of Nations Society, Dean Quinlan presiding. Her subject on each occasion was "World Disarmament," which she discussed with eloquent conviction. The fact that she had served on the disarmament committee of the League of Nations at Geneva gave her first-hand knowledge of the character of the discussions and the temper of the national representatives.

Up to the present time the House of Commons had shown little interest, devoting their time rather to matters which, to the speaker's mind, were of infinite importance. The subject of disarmament was not particularly prominent in the House of Commons. The Prime Minister is interested, but no Prime Minister in office has time to concentrate, she added. Unless the public, through public organizations, roused an interest in the subject by sending letters, telegrams and messages, the Canadian Government was likely to conclude that disarmament was a subject in which the people of Canada were not particularly interested.

Canada could not afford any longer to leave the choice of delegates to the eleventh hour she urged, in pressing for early consideration of the delegates who are to attend the great conference on disarmament, to be held next February.

"If the nations send their ministers of war to the disarmament conference they cannot expect disarmament," she maintained after recalling the "funny habit" whereby the Canadian Government in the past had sent the Minister of National Defence as its representative to Geneva, and to the presence there of Dr. Shearer, as "an interested observer," although a representative of the armament firms of the United States. Such delegates as this last would have limitless funds at their disposal.

"If every nation would lay aside 5 per cent of 5 per cent of their military budget it would finance the League of Nations; and while we have only this pittance, armament firms have their millions to spend. To men of means, such delegates as this last would have limitless funds at their disposal. To men of means, such delegates as this last would have limitless funds at their disposal. DEATH CALLS LEWIS MARKS

Four men were hanged in Victoria for the crime.
NATIVE OF NEW YORK
Born in New York on May 5, 1860, Mr. Marks was brought to this coast by his parents, who first went to San Francisco and then came by sailing ship to Victoria.

His father, on arrival here, decided to take up sheep raising, and it was while moving his family to a location that he was slain.
Mrs. Marks and her tiny son were brought to Victoria and it was in the shadow of the old fort that young Lewis played. He saw the development of the city extend from the palisades of the fur-trading headquarters to its present proportions, and in that development he played a large part.

His first employment after his mother put him through a school with Marvin & Tilton, a pioneer Victoria hardware firm. He won the confidence of his employers and eventually became manager of the firm.

NOT INTERVIEWED
He built up an enviable reputation as a salesman and shortly after receiving the post of manager with Marvin & Tilton was persuaded by the late J. Scott, manager of the Coast branch of the Hamilton Powder Company, in 1894, to join his staff and sell explosives in the mining and other development camps that were springing up throughout the province.

This position led him into many isolated parts of British Columbia, Alaska and the Yukon. Many of his trips took him to the rim of the Arctic, while Rocky Mountains mining camps were being developed. It was a hard life, but one in which Mr. Marks revelled. Gifted with a strong constitution, he was able to endure many hardships to which less sturdy men would have succumbed.

GREAT ENDURANCE
Many are the stories of hardship that are now being recounted. One such relates an experience he had while working on the construction of the White Pass & Yukon Railroad. It was his task to precede the working crews and estimate the amount of powder that would be required for the various purposes. While Mr. Marks was performing this task during a particularly cold period, his legs became frozen.

Taken by dog sled over Yukon's white barrens to Dawson, Mr. Marks sought medical attention. Two doctors informed him that both feet would have to be amputated to prevent gangrene. Only yesterday Mr. Marks was performing this task during a particularly cold period, his legs became frozen.

ADMIRER BY MANY
This is but one of the many stories told of the hardy life which he led in the pursuit of his gold rush. His doggedness won for him the admiration of sturdy pioneers who always looked forward to his periodic visits.

He continued in this sales capacity until the Great War, when the demand for explosives resulted in the formation of the Explosives, Ltd., which later became known as the Canadian Explosives, Ltd. This company absorbed the Hamilton Powder Company and constructed its big plant at James Island, near Sidney. Mr. Marks was made purchasing agent and it was he who brought the explosives to the plant. After the war, Mr. Marks was made district sales manager for Victoria.

CLUB MEMBERS HIM
News of Mr. Marks' death cast a feeling of gloom over the Pacific Club as members arrived for the luncheon hour. For thirty years he was a member of the club, and three years ago he was elected president. On the completion of two years in office, he announced his retirement, but so popular was he with all the members that they insisted he accept the office for a third term.

PROMOTER OF SPORT
"Members of the Pacific Club who shipped him," said Colonel Smith yesterday afternoon. "For the last few years his whole soul had been in the club, to make its life and operations pleasant for the members."

"He was the most generous of men, having put up an almost endless series of carousals and prizes for various competitions. Only yesterday he put up the prize for the members' golf tournament which had been held at the club."

Surviving Mr. Marks are his widow, at the family home, 135 Medina Street; two sisters, Mrs. Whitley, wife of Capt. J. J. Whitley, of Seattle, and Mrs. E. R. Shipp, and nieces and nephews in Victoria and Tacoma. Mr. Marks was 71 years old, died two years ago at Duncan.

The remains will repose at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel until Tuesday morning, when they will be conveyed to his late residence, 135 Medina Street. On Wednesday they will be reinterred to the chapel where funeral service will be held that afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, after which they will be sent to Vancouver for cremation.

GENERALS MAY UNITE
TOKYO, Nov. 7 (AP).—Chinese generals have agreed to unite in opposing the Japanese forces at Nomi River, the Japanese Consul at Harbin reported to Tokyo today, and troop movements have already started in the direction of Anganchi. The War Office here has not confirmed the consular report.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR EARLY OPERATION OF TERMINAL ELEVATOR
Therefore, it is expected to see considerable increase in the business by way of this port during the coming year.

BETTER PRICES
Mr. Gibson did not want to offer any prospect with respect to wheat prices for the future. He believes the extremely low figures paid for wheat are passing. He does not hold out hope there is a great deal of wheat to the other extreme. He believes that wheat is coming back to a better position as far as price is concerned.

In the carrying out of the arrangements which are now under way, James Gibson, who is at present in charge of the elevator, will continue to take active management. Mr. Gibson speaks in the highest terms of the ability of Mr. Burden.

Canada's Only Woman Member at Ottawa, Miss Agnes Macphail, Talks

For some curious reason one is always interested in the personal hobbies of one's heroes and heroines. One almost hopes to discover that they have some little human foibles. It makes them, somehow, more credible and lovable to the ordinary man and woman. So it was really gratifying to learn from her own lips, yesterday, that Miss Agnes Macphail, whom the average person thinks of as a severely aggressive, even though humorous, woman politician playing her lone woman's hand among the parliamentarians at Ottawa, is very fond of dancing, and loves to watch a hockey match. This knowledge only adds to her picturesqueness.

Naturally, Miss Macphail did not jump into the conversation with a statement about her personal hobbies. The discovery was made quite incidentally toward the close of an interview, during which she ranged through a variety of subjects of the more orthodox public interest: her present tour; the attitude of China, India and Japan on the subject of disarmament; the history of the Geneva peace discussions; the regrettable lack of women in the Canadian House of Commons; the differences in the educational policies of the several provinces of Canada; and various other matters.

Despite her admitted weariness after a most grilling lecture tour, Miss Macphail was graciousness itself in giving some of the time between her afternoon and evening addresses to The Colonist's representative who called on her at the Empress Hotel. She is neither satirically "punchy" nor aggressive, and, as her big audience discovered yesterday, has a friendly, easy approachableness, enlivened by a native wit which gives raciness to her gravest subject-matter.

HARD WORK
Her present tour she described as "killing work." Her zeal in the cause of world disarmament is well known, and when some of the speakers, anti-Colonel Meredith, general secretary of the League of Nations Society, and Graham Ship, secretary of the League of Nations Society, discussed with her the ways and means of stimulating interest in the subject through the length and breadth of so large a country as Canada, she had volunteered a month of her time if they would arrange the itinerary for a lecture tour.

A few years ago the Canadian Clubs would not have had her, under any conditions, to speak on such a subject; but we were simply awed under her invitations. It has been simply impossible for me to go to all the places, for twenty-six clubs have asked for the address, exclusive of League of Nations societies and universities," she stated. The Eastern Canadian and Maritime Canadian Clubs have also asked for the lecture, but she had volunteered a month of her time if they would arrange the itinerary for a lecture tour.

LITTLE ADVERSE COMMENT
She anticipated the possibility of some adverse comment on the subject of world disarmament. But there has been very little up to the present, and she has spoken to Canadian audiences in several Prairie and Western towns; also, a week ago, to the Institute on Pan-American Relations in Southern Illinois; and, a few days before that, to the different Toronto groups, one composed of teachers, the other two of university people.

"An unfortunate feature of it is that the people who are really opposed to disarmament do not come to the meetings," she remarked, stating that possibly the most effective instrument for reaching such was the newspaper. At her Kamloops meeting someone had asked her now she could discuss disarmament when conditions were so bad everywhere; it would throw more people into the streets. At the same time, someone suggested that it might be rash to trust some countries even if they promised to disarm.

"To me the big thing is that we have obligated ourselves to disarm, and unless we rewrite the treaty we must keep our word." She recalled the statement of Earl Grey, then prime minister, that he was, by the leading nations prior to 1914 had actually brought about the war.

WHY NO WOMEN?
"Why don't Canadian women go into politics?" she repeated with a half humorous, half puzzled look. "I think it's because they don't have to work hard enough to get to the franchise. With the exception of a few small isolated groups Canadian women do not begin to realize themselves about the vote at all. And when they did get it they allowed themselves to be shepherded into already existing parties without in any way affecting the policy of those existing parties. Since that time they have only gone on swelling in numbers, but still rely on the same influences in politics."

Miss Macphail complained, too, that the majority of women who had gone into politics had not come after the safe seats. She maintained that she is the only woman in Canada who received a nomination in a seat with a fighting chance. "Up to the present Canadian women have not taken any serious interest in politics," she stated. "In the case of John Ores, charged with the murder of Theodore Van Velsken, Van Velsken, who was a fruit grower, was found dead in a bunkhouse on his farm, his body marked with knife wounds and suffering from a fractured skull."

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 6.—A true bill was returned by the Grand Jury Thursday in the case of John Ores, charged with the murder of Theodore Van Velsken, who was a fruit grower, was found dead in a bunkhouse on his farm, his body marked with knife wounds and suffering from a fractured skull.

UNIFIED HISTORY
This Miss Macphail attributes in part to the comparative youthfulness of Canada, her lack of unified history, and the differences in the educational policies of the different provinces. This last was essentially a drawback to the achievement of any unity of opinion in national politics.

A profound reader, Miss Macphail says that she finds herself invariably selecting books on political and economic subjects. She watches and studies the political movement in other countries. The recent British election she thinks was too definite a swing toward conservative thought not to have its reflex movement.

"It is only a phase," she commented.
CANADIAN RADICALS
She is decidedly proud on the whole, of the type of "thinking radical" found among the twenty radicals in the House of Commons at Ottawa, of whom she is one. Three of these are labor; seventeen are farmers, "and myself."

"We correspond to the 'Group of Seven' in art," she said with a smile, here again betraying one of her hobbies, viz., a love of pictures. She always visits picture galleries where there are any.

"HEWERS OF WOOD"
"Canada needs hewers of wood and drawers of water," she emphasized at another point. Because of this any kind of higher education in this country which overcame the scholar wholly from living was gravely at fault. Manual work, farming, fishing, lumbering, mining, were basic industries of Canada, part of living, and education should relate men and women to these things. If education did not help a man to appreciate life and take a pleasure in work, it was ineffective.

"Many times as I sit in the House of Commons I think, when social questions come up, how easily and thoroughly we would get these things put through the way the women want them if only the women were there. Penal reform, for instance; yet we can hardly get the subject discussed in the estimates. And with twenty women in the House the whole question of disarmament would have been approached with more interest," she maintained.

In regard to municipal programmes it was explained Ottawa has approved of $2,536,713 in respect to some forty municipalities. Twenty-seven of these municipalities asked $2,500,000 as a start on their aggregate plans, which ran to a much larger total on paper. The cut involved may have to be distributed pro rata.

COMMENT RESERVED
Hon. R. H. Pooley, K.C., as Acting Minister of Finance, declined to comment yesterday on the course of the British Columbia negotiations. The Government, he said, would await the return of its delegates sent to the Federal capital. Premier Tolmie's League of Nations committee, but previously had taken the same stand, preferring to hear directly from his ministers before announcing the intended plans of his Government.

Members of the Government stressed the fact they had endeavored to comply with Federal instructions in relief matters, and while in sympathy with every effort to hold down the cost of emergency work, they could not agree to switching from a basis of work, one of direct relief, at this date.

WEATHER SERVICE PLANS REPORTED
Winnipeg Conference Ends—Three-Fold Suggestions to Be Made to Government
WINNIPEG, Nov. 6 (CP).—Plans for a greatly improved and extended meteorological service for Western Canada were drawn up and approved by the conference of agricultural, grain trade and meteorological service authorities which ended here today. The report of the conference will be presented to Hon. Alfred Durnan, Minister of Agriculture, by a deputation to be arranged by W. C. McKillop, dean of the Manitoba Agricultural College, and H. G. L. Strange.

The conference's report is a three-fold one. It embodies first of all requests for improved weather reporting in Western Canada, with special relation to agriculture and crop conditions. Then it outlines the proposed extension of the present service, which involves the establishment of more than 150 new reporting stations which will cover practically the whole cultivated area of the Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The third section of the report suggests problems on which research should be conducted, either by the meteorological service of Canada or by the service in co-operation with agricultural colleges.

COMPLETE TWO NEW BRANCHES

Great Canadian Railway Systems Add New Lines in Saskatchewan

PRINCE ALBERT, Nov. 6 (CP).—Completion of two new branches of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Northern Saskatchewan territory, tributary to Prince Albert, was announced today. This morning the branch being pushed West from Nipawin, where the C.P.R. a few years ago completed a $1,000,000 bridge over the Saskatchewan River, reached Henribourg, where it connects with the Canadian National Railway branch going northward from here. The C.P.R. has joint running rights over this branch.

The Meadow Lake branch, west from here, which will ultimately connect with the Great Waterways Railway at Lac La Biche, has been completed as far as Meadow Lake, centre of the fertile Northern Saskatchewan area which in the past two years has attracted thousands of new settlers. Twenty-five cars of steel were shipped from here today over the new branch, and it is hoped to lay twenty miles of steel this fall on the third branch the company is building, one from the Meadow Lake line to Medstead.

PIGGY WIGGLY

IS CHARGED WITH SMUGGLING ALIENS ACROSS THE BORDER

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Gerald Francis, alleged head of an alien smuggling ring, with headquarters in Canada and the Middle West, has been arrested in Detroit, Murray W. Garson, special assistant to the Secretary of Labor, said today.

Garson, who conducted a raid on Chinatown and who has been investigating smuggling and deportation cases in Chicago, said that Francis used aeroplanes to bring Chinese and other aliens from Windsor, Ontario, to Detroit and Chicago. Ten or twelve passengers would be smuggled at one time and charged from $200 to $350, in proportion to their ability to pay.

Federal agents are seeking "Black Bill" McKillop, partner of Francis, in Canada.

WHEAT CROP PLACED AT 240,970,000 BUSHELS

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6 (CP).—A yield of 240,970,000 bushels is the Western Provinces, according to reports compiled by the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association in its annual forecast.

The acreage on which the estimate is based is that compiled by the association early in the season, taking into consideration threshing returns. The figures for wheat are 16,601,050 net acreage, compared with 23,178,000 acres used in the Dominion Government report, which, on September 9, estimated a crop of 246,400,000 bushels.

Gales Reported From Several Centres on Oregon and Washington Coasts

PORTLAND, Nov. 6 (AP).—Full storm warnings were up at all points on the Washington Coast, at the mouth of the Columbia River and on Coos Bay this afternoon, with predictions of southerly gales and rain squalls tonight, replacing small craft warnings ordered up earlier in the day.

The forecast was for strong southerly winds becoming gales tonight and accompanied by thick weather and rain.

At noon the North Head weather station, overlooking the mouth of the Columbia, reported a gale with a blow of forty-eight miles an hour.

A CAMPAIGN FOR PROSPERITY

The Montreal Star notes that the present week has been set aside throughout the Dominion for a "Produced-in-Canada" campaign. Throughout the advertising columns of the newspapers there is no particular evidence that the campaign is being fostered, possibly because the specific occasion is not sufficiently widely known. To meet the unemployment problem it was never more necessary in our history to promote the buying of home-manufactured commodities. This fact has been emphasized by our politicians. Their appeals will, however, be largely in vain unless and until a much more concentrated effort is made to achieve the purpose in view. This is the attitude of The Montreal Star, which says:

"It cannot be too strongly stressed that the urgent need is to keep Canadian money in Canada, and that by buying Canadian goods instead of foreign goods we keep Canadian money circulating through the land, whereas every purchase of foreign goods defers a certain amount of money from circulation in Canada, and the Canadian manufacturer and the Canadian public are the poorer by just that amount. This thing should not be. We ought not to allow Canadian money to leave Canada today without being assured of a full return for it. We ought to support our own industries and our own manufacturers first and foremost, because they need this support, because it will help to stabilize trade conditions in Canada, and because it is the commonsense thing, as well as the patriotic thing, to do in these times of depression."

So far as British Columbia is concerned there has been much publicity in recent months on the economic advantages to be derived through the purchase of home-made goods. That is not enough, and never will be enough. People in their domestic economy are so wedded to custom and to prescriptive methods of purchase that only an organized campaign, extending through the years, will shake them from their habits. That is a fact which this newspaper has been endeavoring to impress on our Provincial Government, which is the logical authority to take hold of such a campaign. If that Government would organize an economic committee of business men, who would give their services voluntarily, and if that committee, through the aid of publicity experts, would build up and sustain a campaign of continuous propaganda, the end in view could be achieved. The will to bring about this economic change, with all the benefits it implies, maintains among our people. They have, however, to be shown the way because thoughtlessness has to be overcome. The present spasmodic publicity on the subject only accomplishes a minimum of good. The press of the province is prepared and anxious to support any concerted movement under the aegis of the Provincial Government. That authority would have the best interests of the people at heart if it would lose no more time in putting such a plan as is proposed into effect.

NATIONAL CREDIT AND THE C.N.R.

A movement is now afoot to inquire, by means of a commission, into the problem of transportation in Canada. This inquiry will have particular relation to the railways. It is in fact, an outgrowth of a recommendation by the Parliamentary Committee which reported last session on Canadian National finances and the affairs of the Canadian Merchant Marine. The Commission, in its personnel, is to be made as impartial as possible. Possibly one or two men from outside Canada, and well-known in the transportation world, will be members. Sir Joseph Flavelle or Sir Thomas White is mentioned for the chairmanship. It is an investigation which should be productive of far reaching recommendations to meet a set of conditions that has been allowed to drift too long.

The crux of the inquiry will be to devise ways and means whereby the excessive burden of State-ownership of railways can be lightened and eventually removed from the shoulders of the taxpayers. In connection with the Canadian National Railways the bonds outstanding total $1,168,555,862.63, on which the amount of interest for 1930 was $50,921,421.65. The ordinary capital stock of that system is $270,221,123.70. The C.N.R. owes to the Government, because of loans, $604,406,239.42, and because of capital invested in the system a sum of $403,449,934.56. These commitments represent a total of $2,446,637,160.31. In addition to the bonds of the C.N.R. outstanding on December 31, 1930, the following have been issued since: On February 1, 1931, 4 1/2 per cent bonds, $70,000,000; on September 1, 1931, 4 1/2 per cent bonds, $50,000,000. The former is a loan redeemable in twenty-five years, and the latter in twenty years. Including these bonds with the others outstanding the interest payments due annually are approximately $77,000,000. These do not take into account the annual interest on Government loans which is $32,693,875.73, and which has never been paid. The latter has accumulated as a book-keeping debt of the Canadian National system.

The seriousness of the situation created under a system of national ownership has been intensified because of economic depression. This year the Canadian National Railways will not pay operating expenses, which means that the Government must find the money due to bondholders as interest on their investment. The problem before a transportation commission is to determine, on the one hand, how widespread economies can be effected, and, on the other, how the volume of business can be increased. The problem must be dealt with drastically lest Canadian credit is injured. There is no dissociating national credit and railway solvency. The solution of the impasse that has been reached lies in affording very substantial relief to the exhaustive drain on the national credit and the financial resources of the Dominion through the operation of the State-owned railway system.

BRITAIN REDIVIVUS

Mr. Lukin Johnston, a correspondent of the Southam Press in England, says there is a genuine revival of trade in the United Kingdom, and that wheels of industry that have been at rest are turning again, steadily and surely. In Lancashire alone there are 48,000 more persons employed than three weeks ago. Mills long closed are being reopened. The same tangible evidences of a revival of industry are being experienced elsewhere, especially in the coal, iron and steel trades. Orders from the outside are being received by British manufacturers at an ever-accelerating pace. The Imperial Chemical Industries expects to have its full 35,000 employees working on full time before many months have elapsed, while other employers report large additions to their staffs.

This is the immediate effect of the creation of a National Government. The movement is bound to receive an added impetus from the knowledge that the Government has been so overwhelmingly sustained in power. The actual fact that has led to the opening of a new cycle of prosperity has been the suspension of the gold standard. The situation is also made brighter by a widespread anticipation that protection is to be instituted for British industry. Britain has not been in a happier vein of thought as to the future for many years. She has found herself anew, and in doing so has set an example to the world in national solidarity.

MR. LEWIS MARKS

Business men in the city and many others who had been attracted by his jovial personality through the long years of his association with our community life, will deeply regret to hear of the sudden passing of Mr. Lewis Marks. Most of all, perhaps, his associates of the Pacific Club, where he had been president for over two years and of which he was such an ardent and enthusiastic supporter, will miss his geniality, his bubbling optimism, his cordial friendship and the spirit of camaraderie for which he was so well known.

Mr. Marks had business ability of a most attractive kind. His long association, first with the Hamilton Power Company and afterwards with Canadian Explosives, is witness of this. Apart altogether from his success in the business field the late Mr. Marks was a lovable character, always ready, within his power, to help a friend; chockful of comforting advice when such was most needed, and one whose opinion was listened to with respect when any dispute or discussion arose. He was, too, a keen sportsman, ever prepared to put up a trophy or prize of some character for competition. Needless to say such a man as he was evoked a warm esteem and attracted close and enduring friendships. He will be keenly missed and deep sympathy will go out to his widow and the other members of his family who survive.

Things are very far from being as bad in Britain as some prophets of gloom would have us believe. The fact is that they are mending faster than anywhere else. Sir Francis Goodenough is right in saying that "the crisis in England is 5 per cent England's crisis and 95 per cent the world's crisis."

TO A CERTAIN MYSTIC

Sometimes you saw what others could not see,
Sometimes you heard what no one else could hear;
A light beyond the unfathomable dark,
A voice that sounded only to your ear.

And did you, voyaging the tides of vision
In your lone shallop, steering by what star?
Catch hints of some Elysian fragrance, breathed
On winds impalpable, from who knows how far?

And did you show you driftage from strange Continents,
Of which we dream but no man surely knows—
Some shed gold leafage from the Tree Eternal,
Some petals of the imperishable Rose?

But did you once, Columbus of the spirit,
Essay the crossing of that unknown sea,
Really touch land beyond the mists of rumor
And find new worlds where they were dreamed
To be?

Ah, why brought you not back the word of power,
The chartered course, the unambiguous sign,
Or even some small seed, whence we might grow
A flower unmistakably divine?

But you came empty-handed, and your tongue
Babbled strange tidings none could wholly trust.
And if we half believed you, it was only
Because we would, and not because we must.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

As yet no arms, and in that sense a pillar of state: deep on his front engraved
Deliberation sat, and public care;
And princely comfort in his face yet shone,
Mature, though in his hair—Milton.

There is a good deal of speculation as well as some concern about the political future of Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George. There is more reason for speculation about the physical future of the right honorable gentleman from the old principality of Wales. If Mr. George recovers his health he will take care of his own political future. For while he is still in a state of convalescence, he is making provision for his political future. The Labor Party is at present without adequate leadership, and the late leader of the Liberal Party has hinted at the possibility of the consolidation of the remnants of the Liberal Party with the purpose of forming a political party in opposition to the National Party. Mr. George has the gift of seeing occasions and taking them by the hand.

Readers of the papers will have observed that Mr. George has severed all his connections with British Liberalism, probably because he regards Liberalism as a spent political force. The political movement which he describes as calamitous has shattered his faith in Liberalism. The fact does not seem to occur to his mind that it was his calamitous leadership of the Liberal Party which precipitated the calamity he condemns. But Mr. George is still a political leader. He is leader of a political Family Compact which is vastly more interesting than the historical Family Compact which at one time dominated the public affairs of the part of this country which was known geographically as Upper Canada. The head centre of the Upper Canadian Family Compact was a man "in holy orders." The chief of the British Family Compact was at one time as eloquent in the pulpit as he afterwards became "on the stump," to employ a term which is better understood in this country than it is in the old Country.

Political families, if they are well ordered, like domestic families if they follow the established order of Nature, have a habit of adding to their numbers. So the Lloyd George political family, while it is at present composed of the head of the house and three or four other members, may prove to be a fruitful family and again become a political power in the land. Although the historical Liberal Party has been smitten, it is divided asunder and has enlisted under the banner of Prime Minister MacDonald, a part of it has not abandoned its free trade principles. The Simon elements of the party, whatever may happen to the new National Party, may be considered as definitely allied with the Conservative Party. The Samuel elements of the party seem to adhere to the principles of free trade, but their leader throughout all the disastrous regime of the Labor Government, acting as the accredited agent of Mr. Lloyd George, kept that government in power until it had accomplished its own political suicide.

Sir Herbert Samuel, during the election campaign, made certain statements which plainly indicated that he was still a devout worshipper of the shattered idol of free trade, and definitely intimated that the remnants of the Liberal Party he hoped to represent in the House of Commons might save the country from disastrous experiments with a policy of protection.

If that is still the political and economic attitude of the leader of the feeble wing of the once powerful Liberal Party, that position must surely be tested at an early date in the career of the National Government, and Sir Herbert must either accommodate his principles to the policy of the majority or resign his membership in the government. This may seem a remote contingency, but it is a possibility, for it appears that the Prime Minister in selecting the members of his government endeavored to strike a balance between Conservative Nationalists who are protectionists, Liberal Nationalists who are protectionists, Liberal Nationalists who are free traders and Labor Nationalists who are mixed in their economic and political views. If the policy of the government, like the personnel of the members of it, should turn out to be a compromise, the case may prove like the case of the accommodating man in the fable, who tried to please everybody, failed to please anybody, and lost his job into the bargain.

But that is a remote contingency, and need not be contemplated except for purely speculative purposes. One of the interesting speculations

In Memoriam

(To J. S. H. M.)

He is not dead, but sleeping.
Our dear friend is just called home:
Though the world is for him weeping,
Yet we sorrow here alone.
Dearly loved by all who knew him,
Not a foe on earth had he,
Gone but never to be forgotten,
Heaven was made for such as he.

A true friend, at all times ready
To assist in time of need,
In our minds the sweet words linger,
"Friend in need, a friend indeed."
Friends will meet and sorely miss him,
None can fill that vacant chair
Of our friend who's gone up yonder,
God grant we will meet him there.

All our thoughts of kindly feelings,
Sweetest flowers we strew in vain;
Naught controls our sad heart's beating,
Though our loss is now his gain.
Merry long will linger of him,
Of the purest deeds he's done,
He is not dead, but sleeping,
Our dear Lord has called him home.

possibilities is that out of the political chaos may develop a United National or Conservative government supported by the Simon Liberals, and a united opposition, composed of the Samuel Liberals and all the Socialists. Should such a remote contingency arise and should Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George be restored to health, it is not difficult to predict what will happen. The Liberal Family Compact will swallow and assimilate all the composite radical and reactionary parties, and Mr. George will be its leader. If such a contingency should develop, it would have its satisfactory compensating features. It would mean only two political parties and an end of group or class government, with a minority wielding the balance of power and taking advantage of every opportunity to snatch advantages for class interests.

THE LAST TIMBER STAND

(Dedicated to Frank J. D. Barnum)

Slow as the years great bores serenely mount
Their heavy crosses aloft to greet the sun—
As slowly shed ripe cones and honeydew—
Deep breaks mark time with rhythm of day and night—
Long sighs while myriad teeming life breathes
Melts into mould.

No blenish on these mighty sentinels—
No scars of hurricane nor fire
Through centuries to bare their crusted flanks—
Only a flicker chides the ghostless
bush.
And rustle of a tender-footed deer
Who threads dim ranks of earth's old heritages—
Where woodland Pan and his poor dwindled rout
Whisper to one who drifts past with a scythe—
"Time! Father Time! Forbear!"

ALBERT HEALD IS CANDIDATE

Councillor Will Seek Reeve-ship Honors in Esquimalt Municipal Election

Definite announcement that he would seek the reeve-ship of Esquimalt at the municipal elections in January was made by Councillor Albert Heald yesterday.

Councillors Charles Smith and Thomas Hadfield, whose terms expire this year, have stated that they will seek re-election to the council. Unusual interest is being shown in the Esquimalt elections this year by soldiers and sailors residing at Work Point and the Naval Barracks. Half of the total number of householders registered in the district have been from these two points.

When asked if any announcement was forthcoming on his future intentions, Councillor Alexander Lockley last night stated it was too early for plans to be announced. Several people had approached him to seek the reeve-ship, however, he stated.

Reeve James Erick is also silent regarding his plans.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaels

Why should I weave the moonlight into words
And seek to picture April's fresh delights?
Why echo maling song of mocking-birds,
Or strive to catch the lure of Summer nights?
What is it but an idle phantasy
To hope that any pen can paint the dawn,
Or leave a faithful image of the
The shining beam and the strong tide withdrawn?

This is rebellion from those futile moods
When I have striven to grasp what none attain,
And from henceforth I seek in dreaming woods
In foam-crowned breakers and in singing rain
Naught else than the swift joy they bring to me
The lift of heart, the sudden ecstasy.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a 16 oz. bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics. You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief, or money refunded.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Injured Tuesday when the truck he was driving was struck by a Canadian National Railway locomotive at a St. Boniface level crossing, Florent Verschoor, sixty-year-old market gardener, died in hospital last night.

WEIGHT LOST, HEALTH BROKEN he had to quit his job!

Now feels fine—gained 15 pounds in 1 month

A PHYSICAL wreck—rundown, seriously underweight. Too sick to hold his position! And that was just the beginning. Months of ill health followed. Months of paying out money for medicines that did no good!

And then in a few weeks—but let Mr. Bird himself, tell you about his amazing recovery:

"I was so tired and nervous, so thin and felt so sick I couldn't work. I tried all sorts of medicines and tonics, but nothing helped me until a friend told me to try Ironized Yeast."

"As soon as I took it I felt better. I gained in the first month 15 pounds and now I feel fine. I have a very good appetite and it sure put lots of pep in me." Joseph A. Bird, Zeneta, Sask.

Can you afford to stop working? Then watch out! Don't let Mr. Bird's experience happen to you. Better begin right now to quiet those jumpy nerves, overcome that tired-out, weary feeling, clear poor complexion—get your weight up to par. Thousands have easily—with Ironized Yeast! You ought to do the same, so why not start now?

A Double Action Tonic

Ironized Yeast does the work of two tonics—and does it better. It completely revitalizes sluggish, worn-out systems at the same time it puts firm, solid flesh on thin, scrawny figures!

Ironized Yeast's unique formula is the richest kind known—in a highly concentrated form. Seven times concentrated, this wonderful health yeast is then ironized with three distinct types of blood-enriching iron.

Ontario Has Scheme for Carrying on War Against Tuberculosis

TORONTO, Nov. 6 (CP).—To cope with the tuberculosis problem, the Ontario Government, in conjunction with the Dominion Government, has voted $2,000,000 to assist in building and extending sanatoria. Announcement of this was made today by Hon. Dr. J. M. Robb, Provincial Minister of Health, at the annual meeting of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire convention here.

The province will contribute 17.5 per cent, the Dominion an equal amount, and the additional 65 per cent will be made up by those institutions which desire to enlarge their work with the help of the provincial and Dominion Governments, the minister said. Details of the scheme will be announced later.

"Ontario will spend more money to assist in fighting tuberculosis in the next six months than all the money which the Governments have paid for this purpose during the whole of their existence," said Dr. Robb.

CITY SUFFERS SEVERE LOSS

Head of B.C. Electric Company
Expresses Regret at Death of
J. S. H. Matson

W. G. Murrin, of Vancouver, president of the B.C. Electric Company, arrived in Victoria yesterday one of his regular visits here for the purpose of consulting with local officials of the company. In addition, Mr. Murrin had some private business to attend to in the capital.

Speaking of the situation as it presented itself at present, Mr. Murrin expressed the opinion that the outlook seemed to be improving. This, he said, was the feeling prevailing among the heads of various industries, and there were not wanting evidences that within a reasonable time the depression would clear away.

Mr. Murrin expressed his deep regret at the death of J. S. H. Matson, and voiced the sentiment that in his passing the City of Victoria in particular had sustained a very severe loss. His public spirit and his business acumen were manifested in so many different directions, he said, that it would be difficult to realize just what the Province, and Victoria in particular, would suffer from his death.

OKANAGAN BANDITS SENT TO OKALLA

KELOWNA, Nov. 6.—George MacDonald, of Vancouver, and Claude McLean, of Nova Scotia, were sentenced to two years in penitentiary and four months in the Okanagan Prison Farm, respectively, for being in possession of stolen goods. The case arose out of recent robberies at Westbank and Okanagan Mission, in which safes were blown and postoffices and general stores robbed. The goods found in possession of the accused were proved to have come from those places.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A LEGACY OF WHIST

One of the most beautiful and unusual plays in bridge owes its name to the parent game of whist. This play is called the Vienna Coup, and consists in establishing a winning card in the hands of one opponent, only to dash the cup of hope from his lips by forcing him later to discard it or unguard another suit.

The name was given this play, according to whist history, because one of the most celebrated whist players in Vienna, while playing a game of double dummy whist, held a masterly hand dealt to him, and upon scanning the cards he declared he could take all the tricks. His opponent, almost equally expert, differed with him and a wager was made. Thereupon the player proceeded to win his wager by means of the play which has been known ever since as the Vienna Coup. Today's hand is an illustration of that unusual play.

Through very optimistic bidding, North and South had arrived at a contract of seven no trump. The fact that to make this declaration it was necessary to make two successful guesses and then establish a squeeze situation by means of the Vienna Coup, illustrates that their bidding was not entirely sound. However, it is one of the virtues of a great player that he can sometimes redeem the faults in the bidding by accurate play.

West selected for his opening lead his fourth best spade, and this the declarer won with the ace. A diamond was led to the second round, and the knave finessed in dummy. Now the queen of clubs was led and this finesse also held. The knave of clubs was next led.

And East refused to cover. Actually his play here is immaterial. It was upon the fifth lead that South made the Vienna Coup. Leading the five of hearts from the North hand, he made no attempt to finesse, but took the trick with the ace in the closed hand and then laid down the ace of clubs, upon which West was forced to discard and chose the two of spades. A diamond was then led and the finesse taken the second time. East failed to follow, but this made no difference, and the ace of diamonds picked up West's king.

The two high diamonds now accounted for the ninth and tenth tricks, and on the eleventh trick West was faced with this situation.

The Life of Thomas A. Edison

By DAVID WILSON
(Copyright, 1931, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

PART XVII

The contributions of Thomas Edison to the science of war ranged from a jocular proposal to control enemy attacks by the use of water from fire hoses, electrically charged to a remote-control torpedo boat for the protection of ships, but his greatest aid to the United States lay along less destructive lines.

Edison was sixty-seven when war broke out in 1914. The black hair had turned to gray. The face was wrinkled and there were no more hardy less baggy and unkempt than in his earlier years; in fact, they were being made by a New York tailor who had never seen the inventor, but took his measurements from an old suit given him as a model when he first got the Edison trade.

The years had stored up vast experience upon which Edison could draw in the emergency, but they had not reduced his capacity for work or his ability to imitate associates to superhuman accomplishment.

Nor had the years diminished his fondness for jokes as an interviewer who called upon him for ideas for the destruction of enemy armies learned.

Edison advised this interviewer that the United States should construct a series of forts, each equipped with a high-pressure water system and four or five inch electrically actuated torpedo tubes. One man, armed only with a fire hose, was to stand upon the parapet of each fort in the event of attack and direct upon the advancing enemy a stream of water charged with electricity. When the water struck the enemy, the very few seconds required to complete the circuit would drop, shocked into insensibility or death, depending upon the strength of the current used.

Before the war, Edison and W. Scott Sims had worked together to devise a submarine torpedo boat, which was to be sent a mile or two ahead of ships, carrying a connecting cable through which the torpedo boat could be controlled. The torpedo boat, amounting to an advance guard, was to clear the sea of any obstructions.

He was born in Norway, and had been a resident of this city for ten months, coming here from Vancouver. There survive his parents, brothers and sisters in Bergen, Norway. He was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Aerie No. 2075, Vancouver. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon, under the auspices of the Victoria Order of Eagles, at 3:30 o'clock, from the Sands Mortuary Chapel. Rev. Theodore A. Hansen will officiate, and the remains will be laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

FIRE SWEEPS PLANT

The speed with which the first plant was built left persons familiar with the problems overcome gasping. Edison at sixty-seven should have been exhausted. Perhaps he was; but he had no time to show it. The plant was hardly in full-time operation when a disaster struck. On December 9, 1914, swept his Orange plant.

The damage was great, but Edison's specially designed concrete buildings survived. The walls were not cool before reconstruction had started. Edison, working on a real war basis, then found the supply of benzol for the manufacture of his carbolic acid dwindling rapidly. In a few months he was producing all he needed. By the middle of 1915 he was manufacturing benzol, toluol, solvol and naphthalene on a commercial scale, and then he turned to more important devices based upon the discovery of the German chemist. In half a year Edison was manufacturing effective substitutes. Had Edison not been alive, others would have learned how to manufacture all these products, but it would have been months longer before they would have been available, and the loss to industry would have been tremendous.

In 1917, when the United States entered the war, the importance of the Edison plants became still greater, for nearly all the products were needed for making explosives. Edison, however, was not left to continue indirect war work. At seventy he was called upon to be chairman of the Naval Consulting Board, and for two years he concentrated upon war inventions. He evolved dozens of which the navy made use. He designed the phonograph, for locating submarines at a distance from ships and for finding the exact location of enemy guns from the sound of their discharge. The improvement of guns and explosives, and experiments in poison gas, he left to others.

Tomorrow—Edison's years immediately after the World War.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Owen, of Portsmouth, England, who recently celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary, have lived in the same house since they were married.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—Instructions have been received from the Attorney-General by F. G. T. Lucas, K.C., Crown counsel at the assizes, to traverse to the Spring Court a charge of theft against Earl E. Robinson, dismissed police court clerk.

The accused's counsel, Gordon S. Warner, applied for trial at this assizes. However, in the face of the Attorney-General's wish in the matter and Mr. Justice Gregory's already expressed opinion that he would not interfere, there does not appear any likelihood of the case being heard at this assizes.

PLAY REVEALS LOCAL TALENT

"And So to Bed" Well Received by Large Audience at Shrine Auditorium

A revelation in local talent kept the audience entranced during the three acts of J. B. Peppy's play "And So to Bed" another episode in the life of Samuel Peppy, produced by the Mimos and Masquers Guild at the Shrine auditorium last night.

The production not only revealed the dramatic ability of the play, but gave an excellent and genuine picture of period costumes and seventeenth century furnishings.

HUMOROUS PLAY
Written for the period of Charles II, the play pictured the marital difficulties of Samuel Peppy, who was given with that unconsciousness of self that marks all successful actors. Mr. Peppy, who found his music a most dependable excuse for his calls upon pretty women of the stage, Mr. Peppy, who was not slow to take advantage of another's predicament in order to enjoy a little fun.

CHARMING ACTRESS
Betty Hetherington, as Mrs. Peppy, charmed her audience with demureness at one moment and genuine indignation at another. She even made her fingers at as she drummed them on the table in repressed rage over her husband's waywardness.

Not for one moment did Mrs. Hetherington forget her French accent as her voice rose in chastisement. Her quick change of moods was not spotted by awkwardness. In the portrayal of Peppy, the afflicted Englishman recently returned from Paris with a pretty, flattering speech for women and his disdain for English styles, Alan King justified his selection for this role.

Mrs. Knight, a singer, who brought about Mr. Peppy's denouement, was given to Emma McConnon, who won the genuine applause of those present.

SUPPORTING CAST
Others deserving of mention were Arthur Kerr, as Greed; Margaret Buchanan, as maid to Mrs. Knight; Dan MacDonald, a pickpocket; Harry Dee, the watchman; Cleaver Wilcox, as Jack; Owen Downes, as Dol; Kay Macdonald, as Sue; Edgar Kidd, as Pelling; Douglas Smith, as Caesar; Margaret Swanson, as Mrs. Pierce; and Mrs. Knight, as Mrs. Peppy.

All of them gave strong support to the production. The play, which they portrayed their various roles was indicated by the prolonged applause that greeted each closing chapter in the play.

Others to be commended were Percy Barr, whose splendid direction was largely responsible for the play's success; Delaney, who revealed a genuine knowledge of costume, and Marion James, who arranged the settings.

Another opportunity will be afforded the public tonight to see the play, which is being produced under the distinguished patronage of Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

A very prominent physician, Professor Alfred Scott Warthin, died a few weeks ago at the comparatively early age of sixty-five. Despite his heart ailment, he was able to be about his own work as professor of pathology and director of pathological laboratories, University of Michigan, and also other activities, including the writing of many highly original and thought-stimulating books and papers.

"Up to the day of his passing he was planning large and fruitful activities for the future. In some ways that seems an ideal way for a human career to end. He lived until he died."

So many middle-aged people begin to have trouble with colds, frequent sore throats, rheumatism, shortness of breath, no inclination to work. Very often they will take it for granted that nothing much can be done about it, and that they are of no further use to themselves or the community.

The ideal thing for everybody to do, sick or well, young or old, is to go to their family physician and get a complete examination lasting at least an hour.

This may prevent these frequent colds, sore throats, indigestion, shortness of breath and rheumatism which makes life a burden instead of a joy.

And even where a condition has progressed too far, a complete cure to be obtained, the individual will know exactly how he stands with health, and with life, and be able to do the things he can do, and not try to do the things that endanger health and life.

Thus the removal of infected teeth or tonsils; an arrangement of a diet which will be sufficient to keep the blood in good condition for bodybuilding purposes; a prescription of a few minutes' exercise daily, particularly for the middle third of the body (bending exercises); enough of the outdoors daily; establishment of a daily intestinal habit; all very simple and every day follow, will enable you to go about your daily work and enjoy your recreation.

And when the time comes for your passing you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have given and received from life, full measure. It will then be said of you, as Dr. Warthin, he lived until he died.

ANNOUNCE SLATE ON MONDAY NEXT

Executive of Victoria Ratepayers' Association to Decide on Candidates for Municipal Offices

On Monday night the executive committee of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association will present a complete slate of candidates for all vacant seats on the city's administrative boards. It was announced last night by Frank LeRoy, president of the association.

At present a committee of three has the problem of selecting the candidates, and this committee is to report back to the whole executive Monday. Any announcement concerning candidates, Mr. LeRoy said, will come from the executive, and the executive will not be informed of the subcommittee's selections until the Monday night meeting.

CONSIDERING NAMES
Asked if he had been chosen to contest the mayoralty, Mr. LeRoy said: "I do not know whom the subcommittee has chosen. I am not a member of that committee, and any announcement in connection with myself would be premature. I do know, however, that this committee has two names under consideration for the mayoralty, but who they are I do not know."

FINAL DECISION
Several weeks ago the Victoria Ratepayers' Association adopted a programme to be endorsed by candidates seeking election under the association banner. At that meeting the executive committee was authorized to select the candidates. Several sessions of the committee have been held since then, but it was not until last Monday night that a subcommittee was selected to make the final decision.

The committee of three has full powers to make all nominations, and these nominations must be endorsed by the executive committee by virtue of a resolution to that effect passed last Monday night.

It is quite possible that Mr. LeRoy, who has piloted the association since its organization, may be the selector of the subcommittee. Names of other nominees are being closely guarded, and will not be known until Monday night, Mr. LeRoy says.

What Today Means
WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU "SCORPIO"

If November 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:10 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:10 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4:50 p.m. and from 9:10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The stars foretell for November 7 unsettling, but generally beneficial results. All constructive workers will be helped, such as engineers, architects and builders. Women will not be so fortunate, as impulsiveness will cause trouble. Love affairs will progress satisfactorily and many arranged marriages will be hastened rather than delayed. Artistic and creative types will have anxieties in connection with intimate personal affairs.

Children born on this November 7 will be cleverer and more skillful in their hands than with their heads. Without being malicious they will be frank and outspoken. They will love ardently, and being of a fiery disposition, will demand undivided affection.

You, if born on November 7, are a natural pessimist, and are very successful in dampening enthusiasm and destroying hope. You always visualize the worst, and imagine the disastrous. Without any sense of humor, you are a permanent wet blanket, and very often a kill-joy. Until the fog of your mentality is lifted, and sunshine is allowed to dissipate the mist, you will never be of much use to yourself or to others. Such is the general impression that you convey. The signs are, however, more illuminating and clearly show that the cultivation of a cheerful spirit will not be difficult and, once accomplished, would enable you to develop the many good traits that you possess.

You are, and always have been, a painstaking student. Your sense of honor is very great; your ability to look straight ahead, and later on you will learn to look above.

loyalty is unquestioned. If in addition to these gifts you possess hope and ambition, your success, both spiritual and material, would be assured. It would be worth your while, walking through life's intricate pathways, not to keep your eyes focused on the ground, but as a beginning learn to look straight ahead, and later on you will learn to look above.

VIVID REALISM IN DOMINION PICTURE

Vivid realism is the quality prominent in the Fox Film production of "Bad Girl," Vina Delmar's best story of first love, which comes to the Dominion Theatre today with Sally Eilers and James Dunn co-starring.

The locale of the story is New York City, with its action played against the colorful backgrounds of the city, including a mammoth department store, streets filled with milling metropolitan throngs, and the crowded docks of the city. The picture is faithfully reproduced for the film of the plot or were actually shot in Manhattan.

"We were so particular in adhering to reality in our backgrounds," Frank Borzage, director of the picture, declared, because we knew that to make the struggles and joys of our characters believable we had to depict their surroundings with absolute fidelity."

The Dumbells will present their latest series in the Royal Victoria Theatre for three days, commencing next Monday, when they will undoubtedly duplicate the ovations which have been accorded them in other cities on their triumphant march across Canada.

CATHOLIC LEAGUE REVIEWS WORK

Year's Reports Read at Annual Meeting—Resolution Brought In Regarding Walkathons

The work of the past year was reviewed at the annual convention of the diocesan Catholic Women's League, held on Wednesday afternoon and evening in the hall of the Church of Our Lady of Peace, Mrs. W. McManus, diocesan president, in the chair at both afternoon and evening sessions. Mrs. M. Fagan, of Esquimalt Subdivision, welcomed the members and delegates, those from out of town including Mrs. Kingsley, Cobble Hill; Mrs. P. T. Porter and Mrs. Windau, of Shawinigan Lake; Mrs. J. A. McKenna, secretary-treasurer's report; Mrs. Grant, immigration; Mrs. R. A. Duncan, education; Mrs. McManus, tag days, and Mrs. Ebbes-Cavanagh, publicity. Mrs. McManus read a letter from the National League regarding the convention which will be held in Victoria in June.

OPPOSE WALKATHONS

The following resolution, brought by Mrs. J. L. Thompson, to be presented to the Local Council of Women by the Diocesan Subdivision Catholic Women's League, was carried unanimously: "Whereas, several theatres in Victoria, Vancouver and other British Columbia cities have been featuring tests of endurance called 'walkathons,' in such a way as to be detrimental to the health and morals of the contestants, and whereas measures were undertaken in the endeavor to stop such performances but without avail, as it was explained by the Mayor of Victoria that neither he nor police authorities had the power legally to prevent such demonstrations owing to the nature of the leases held by the theatre owners or managers, be it resolved that the Local Council of Women be requested to petition the Provincial Government to pass legislation or amend the existing legislation regarding the leasing of theatres, halls and other places of public entertainment, so as to give power to the city authorities to discriminate as to vaudeville acts, endurance tests, and any such performance likely to have injurious effects on the health or morals of the performers, contestants or spectators." All officers of the diocesan board of the League were elected to the third vice-president to be elected to fill Mrs. E. A. Colbert's place. Mrs. E. Vernon Thompson was elected.

COAST PUCK LOOP PASSES OUT OF EXISTENCE

Mickey Walker and Stribling May Mix At New York, Dec. 11

Toy Bulldog and Macon Heavyweight May Fight at Madison Square Garden for Christmas Fund Benefit—Kearns May Not Agree to Match

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP).—Mickey Walker's third chance at a ranking heavyweight probably will come against Young Stribling, in Madison Square Garden, December 11, for the New York American's Christmas fund.

Negotiations have reached the point where Stribling's handlers have agreed to the match, which, if completed, will send the Macon heavyweight against a major opponent for the first time since his de-clive defeat by Max Schmeling in Cleveland, July 3.

Walker, who beat Johnny Risko at Miami in February, and drew with Jack Sharkey here this summer, originally offered his services to the Christmas fund with the idea of meeting Sharkey again. The Boston sailor, however, turned down the bout.

Some observers professed doubt as to whether Walker's manager, Jack Kearns, would agree to the Stribling match.

They pointed out that prospects of a title match between Walker and Schmeling in Los Angeles, February 22, recently have looked very rosy and they doubted whether Kearns would jeopardize such a bout by sending Walker against Stribling. Definite decision as to the Walker-Stribling match was expected within a day or two.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP).—A professional indoor tennis tournament to be played here during Christmas week has been arranged by the Professional Lawn Tennis Association. This will be the first indoor title tourney for the pros.

MARINE and TRANSPORTATION

Travel From South Sea Countries Not So Good at Present

Niagara Brought Small List of Passengers—Nebraska Discharged Cargo Yesterday—Empress of Canada Sailing This Afternoon

From Sydney, via Auckland, Suva and Honolulu, the Canadian-Australian motor liner Niagara, Capt. T. V. Hill, commander, came up to Rihet Piers at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, where she remained two hours, proceeding to Vancouver at 9 o'clock. The Niagara had only a small passenger list, there being but 78 in all classes aboard when she docked here, and included 39 in the first cabin, 22 in the second class and 17 in the third class. Several travelers left the ship here and proceeded South on the Canadian Pacific ferry to Seattle during the afternoon. Officers of the Niagara reported a fine passage from Australia until the American coast was reached, when heavy weather was encountered.

Among the travelers aboard the Niagara were: A. S. Hoskins, director of the Australian Iron & Steel Company, Sydney; S. T. Merritt, chief engineer with the same company; B. M. Grime, assistant manager of the Amalgamated Wireless Agency of Australia, with headquarters at Sydney; F. H. Jones, Australian representative of the Commercial Investment Trust Company; B. L. Hewitt and C. S. White, of the Filian Pineapple Company, Auckland; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moysey, the former being a prominent wool buyer of Chicago, returning from a business trip to Australia and New Zealand, and B. Bayless, sales manager of the Texas Oil Company of Australia.

LANDED FREIGHT HERE
From the United Kingdom, via Panama and California ports, the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's Ss. Nebraska, Capt. E. A. Bridges, docked at Rihet Piers at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and after discharging 175 tons of general cargo here proceeded to Mainland and ports early in the afternoon. Adam P. Moffat, agent here for the steamship company, looked after the Nebraska's business while the ship was in port.

Outbound for the Philippine Islands, via Hawaii, Japan and China ports, the Canadian Pacific liner Ss. Empress of Canada, Capt. A. J. Halley, R.N.R., commander, will arrive alongside Rihet Piers about 4 o'clock this afternoon, and after embarking passengers awaiting the ship's arrival here, will call at 6 o'clock for Honolulu, her first port of call.

Although in the years immediately following the Armistice, it was the custom to actually stop ships at sea in observance of the day, vessels no longer make this difficult gesture. Orders issued to Canadian National ships recently, and now on route to various ports, included one which will take care of the observance of the memorial stage, Commander Hewitt stated, but there is every indication of the effort growing to considerable proportions. At present, the market in Australia and New Zealand is supplied largely from the plantations on the Fiji Islands, where modern canneries are putting up the fruit in suitable containers for marketing.

CONDITIONS LOOKING BETTER IN AUSTRALIA

A. S. Hoskins, director of the Australia Iron & Steel Company, passing through Victoria yesterday morning aboard the liner Niagara en route to London on business connected with his company. Established in Lithgow, N.S.W., since 1908, and doing a large business throughout Australia, a new plant was recently opened by the company at Port Kembla, where production is now proceeding on a substantial scale.

Aboard the liner, Mr. Hoskins stated that there were very distinct evidences of business improvement in Australia. He felt that the Commonwealth, despite its present difficulties, would soon be in good shape. Wheat is now selling for three shillings a bushel, while the price of wool is decidedly better than for some time.

Mr. Hoskins is accompanied by S. T. Merritt, chief engineer of the Port Kembla plant.

SO MANY MOTHERS DO NOT UNDERSTAND THE GAME.

In an historical drama an aged king's weary, troubled look, exclaim-when there came a voice from the was blessed with two sons. He was lying aloud, "On which of these my gallery, "Why not 'arf-a-crown back; up and down the stage, with sons shall I bestow my crown?" (spice, giv'n'or?)

PRODUCE MARKET

Following is the market letter issued yesterday by the market branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

VANCOUVER

Fruit and vegetable prices remain about the same as last week. Lettuce is down and moving slowly. The wholesale price is $3.75 to $4.25 per crate. No change in boxed apple prices, but bulk has advanced to 31-2c per lb. Australian oranges are also moving slowly even at low prices. This is probably due to consumers' preference, as well as the fact that California oranges stand up better in the dealers' hands. The recent shipment of Oriental Persimmons has not been much of a success. Three cars of grapes arrived this week and are in good demand. These are quoted at $4.12 to $4.25 per lb. for Rubens and $3.50 to $3.75 for Emperor. Brussels sprouts, local at 5c per lb. and imported at 10c per lb. Importation of vegetables is almost nil; 500 crates of lettuce and fifty-five crates of celery arrived during the week. The egg market is steady at last week's prices. Hogs, country dressed, prime light to shipper, 7c per lb. Veal, country dressed tops to shipper, 11c per lb.

VERNON

From information received it would appear that British Columbia apples are being used for the fancy trade throughout Canada, especially in Quebec, Montreal and Toronto.

REGINA

Weather dry, with temperature twenty above. Car arrivals: Manitoba, two potatoes and one vegetable; Saskatchewan, one turnip; British Columbia, one each of bulk and box apples. Bulk apple demand is brisk; 1 box movement moderate. The market is well supplied with vegetables, principally from Manitoba. Cucumbers are cleaned up, only British Columbia hothouse offering. California field tomatoes are reported in transit. The wholesale quotations on British Columbia apples vary according to variety. British Columbia hothouse tomatoes, four-basket crate, $2.75; cucumbers, per dozen, $2.25 to $2.50; British Columbia celery, per lb., 7c; California head lettuce, five, $7 per crate.
